Value Line Mutual Fund Survey Investor Profile Questionnaire

For many investors, determining risk tolerance levels and investment time frames is the most difficult component of the asset allocation process. The following worksheet is designed to assist us in identifying your Investment Risk Profile. For its results to be meaningful, you must respond to every question.

For each of the following groups of three statements, check the box next to the statement that mostly reflects your financial situation and/or investment philosophy:

(Questions A through C refer to your investment philosophy.)

- A. "You can't be too careful."
 "When in doubt, err of the side of caution."
 "Nothing ventured, nothing gained."
- B. "Put safety first. Stick with risk-free investments."
 "Don't put all your eggs in just a few baskets. Diversification is very important."
 "Go with your strong suit. Emphasize your strengths. Put most of your money into your best investment ideas."
- C. "Live for today. The future will take care of itself."
 "I need to begin thinking about the future."
 "If you save for a rainy day, you'll never get wet. Plan for the seemingly distant future today."

(Questions D through J refer to your own investments.)

- D. Receiving income on a regular basis is more important than growth of Principal.
 Both income and growth are equally important.
 Growth is more important than current income.
- E. I usually stick to the most conservative investments.
 Most of my investments are conservative, but I like to have a few aggressive investments in order to achieve some growth.
 Most of my money is invested for long-term growth.
- F. Preserving at least 90% of the value of my investments at all times is more important than growth potential.
 Capital preservation is important, but growth is equally important.
 I believe in growth investing. I will risk 30% or more of my current capital in prudent investments in order to achieve good growth.
- G. Someone whose opinion you respect told you the time was right to risk the loss of more of your principal in order to have the potential to realize substantially higher returns. You would:
 Refuse to take any more risk.
 Increase your risk a little bit.
 Increase your risk by a substantial amount.

- H. If you won a contest and had a choice of receiving three alternative prizes (assume that there were no tax consequences):

- I would receive $5,000 in a lump sum today.
- I would receive $2,000 per year for the next five years.
- I would receive $25,000 in a lump sum 10 years from now.

I. If a catastrophe were to demand $20,000 from you unexpectedly:

- I would have to liquidate virtually all of my investments.
- I would have to liquidate at least 25% of my investments.
- I could handle it without significantly disrupting my investment program.

J. You can make an investment in a new type of zero coupon bond that will pay 20 times your initial investment in 10 years if the issuing company survives. The minimum investment is $10,000. You have determined that the company has a 70% chance of surviving that long. That gives you a 30% chance of losing your entire investment. You would:

- Not invest in this risky proposition.
- Invest $10,000.
- Invest $20,000 or more.

(Questions K through N refer to your current personal situation.)

- K. I have no dependant children now, and my future plans call for having no new dependant children in my lifetime.
- I have at least one dependant child between 13 and 23 years of age, but I have no children younger than 13, nor do I expect to add to my family in the future.
- I either have at least one child who is less than 13 years old, or I expect to be starting a family sometime in the future.
- L. I have no plans to buy a new house, farm, or small business for the rest of my life.
- I currently own my own home, but plan to buy either a larger home, a second home, a farm, or a small business within the next ten years.
- I am not currently a homeowner, but I do plan to own a home, farm, or small business sometime at least ten years into the future.
- M. The principal earner in my family is retired, or very close to his or her probable retirement age.
- The principal earner in my family has between five and fifteen years left to reach his or her retirement age.
- The principal earner in my family has more than fifteen years left until retirement.
- N. Leaving a substantial inheritance is not important to me.
- Leaving a substantial inheritance is important, but not at the expense of my current lifestyle.
- Leaving a substantial inheritance is very important to me.

Your Current Asset Allocation

The information from the previous page was used to create the following chart.

It is important to the success of your planning that your asset allocation is consistent with your goals. You should compare your current allocation to the Suggested Asset Allocation below which may be more appropriate and beneficial to your situation.

Suggested Asset Allocation (Total Return)

Based upon information you provided, we believe you should consider a total return-oriented investment mix. This allocation has averaged an approximate 8% historical annual return. We have illustrated a broad-based allocation. Effectiveness could be further increased by a blend of large, small, and international stocks within the Equities category. See your Financial Advisor for further analysis.
